WISNERS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS AND KIDDIES ON RETURN TO HOME

From Trip to Orient—Glad to Be Home Again and With the People Where They Live All Year Around—Glad to be on Coast Again.

SOME FIVE HUNDRED KIDDIES THEIR GUESTS FOR DAY.

Entertainment Marks the End of "A Perfect Day" With Moving Pictures Made Possible by the Saenger Amusement Company.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wisner were host and hostess to over five hundred townpeople, including some four hundred children, Sunday afternoon at their premises on the beach front.

The couple recently returned from a tour of the Orient, having left here during the early part of the year, seemed to withstand the heat of some several weeks since. The frolic was ended when the children were "lured" in two and passed under the great pergola at the house, and here on the lawn, Mrs. Wisner, assisted, gave to each child a plate filled with ice cream, biscuits and cakes and later candies were distributed.

There were 450 "bricks" of ice cream and 1000 confectionery cakes distributed. Children from all parts of the city and vicinity enjoyed the hospitality so lavishly bestowed. There was no bar. Every well-behaved child was welcomed, and they were told to make themselves at home in and about the premises, which needless to say, they did. Mr. Wisner comments with much pleasure and favor on the deportment of the boys and girls and calls attention to the fact that not one blossom in the beautiful garden was molested nor one plant of the many damaged. Children roamed largely throughout and over the lawn and gardens without the slightest damage to either.

Quite a number of Mr. and Mrs. Wisner's personal acquaintances called at the home later in the evening, welcoming the couple home again from their trip across the Pacific. Many beautiful things from the farlands were exhibited. Rugs, vases, China were reviewed with interest. Mr. Wisner brought home many fine pieces of wares, several of which seemed to withstand the heat of some several weeks since.

At the present night, and at the place where the huge pergola stands, the "lure" was read the program of the evening. The feature, "A Perfect Day," was presented by Charles Ray, followed by comedy scenes shown by people who were the "lure" that night as a part of the entertainment could not be omitted, but says to say one thing, people at least enjoyed the day's pleasure, and celebration of the time-honored custom of frolic on Old Halloween.

While the moving picture feature was Mr. Wisner's entertainment, he wants proper credit to where proper credit belongs, and that is to the Richards and the Saenger Amusement Company, who made absolutely no charges for their services, but gave them gratis and in compliance to the occasion and to the people of Bay St. Louis. However, this was an exception, for it must be remembered the Saenger Amusement Co. protects its patrons, never giving away any of its products either by loan or exhibition for any purpose, whatever or in competition with other attractions, and the exception is certainly a compliment and recognition to Bay St. Louis well appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wisner, Host and Hostess, Who Gladdened the Hearts of the Children.

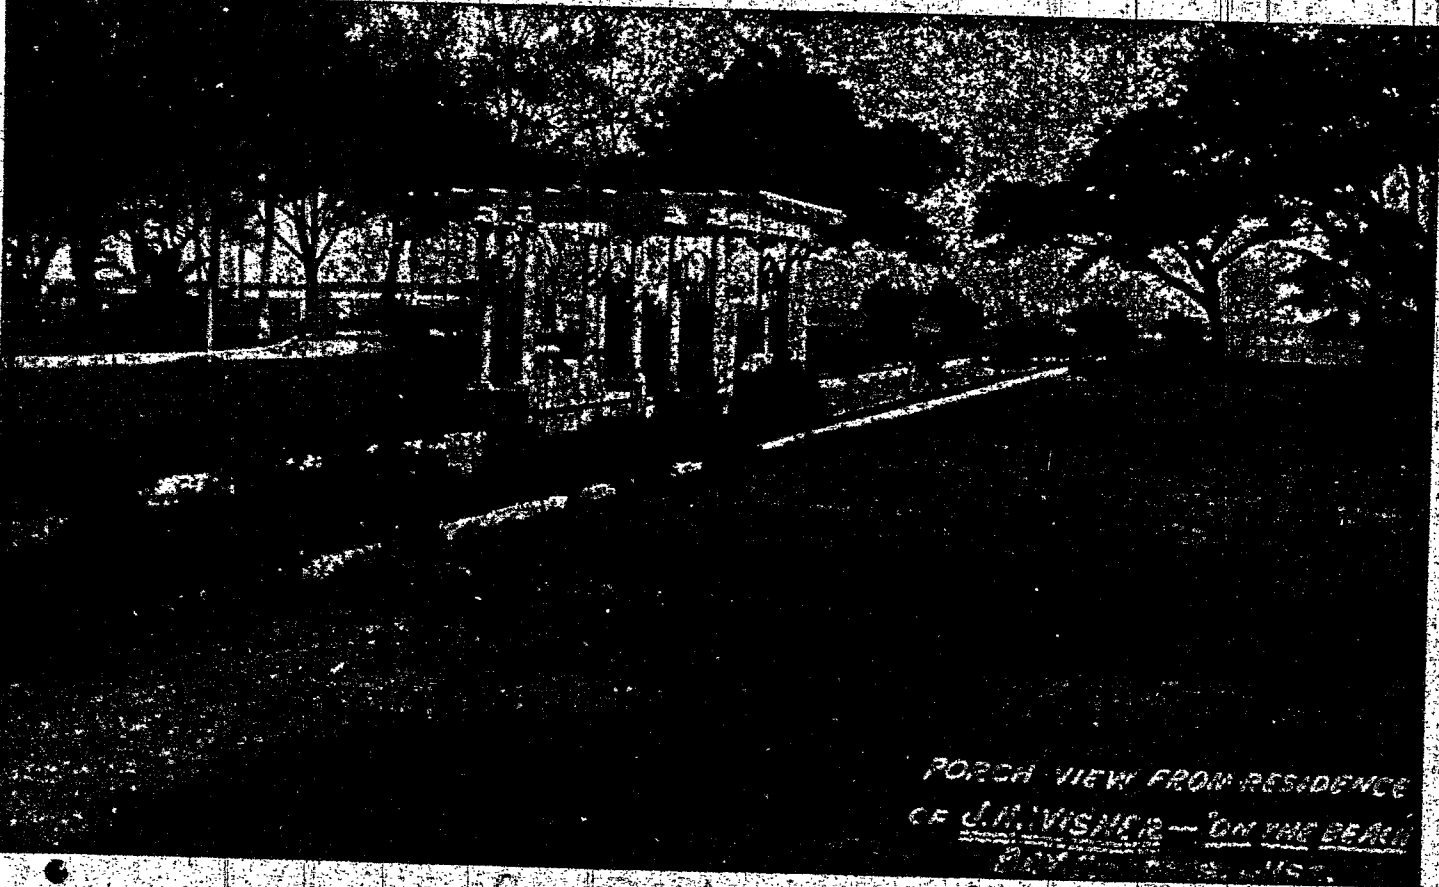

home and to show in a telling manner of their pleasure and satisfaction at being home again tendered the townpeople and children generally a reception which was hearty and meaning much.

Before three o'clock, the appointed hour, scores of boys and girls began to arrive and soon after hundreds of children were romping on the green bosom of the sloping beach, which Mr. Wisner had built last year with a pitch of 7 to 1, and it might be well here to state which formerly belonged to Chinese, formerly belonged to Chinese Imperial palace, and are now being disposed of since that country became a republic. The collection is of unusual interest and it was a privilege to view the different things.

MOVING PICTURES AT NIGHT. In order to further entertain the children and the older people as well, through the instrumentality of Mr. E. V. Richards, member of the Saenger Amusement Company, of New Orleans, and Elmwood Manor of Bay St. Louis. In closing this chronicle of a gala day so liberally given by Mr. and Mrs. Wisner to the townpeople it would not be amiss to sing their praises, but both are averse to such. On the contrary, they would rather nothing be said of their hospitality, like the philanthropy, which is so extensive—but the fact remains nevertheless they are big-hearted and generous and their thoughtfulness is appreciated.

The Pergola, where the "kiddies" enjoyed their feast of good things, after served by twos.

BAY ST. LOUIS HIGH SCHOOL DOTS.

The Juniors and Seniors gave a Halloween party at Central School building Saturday evening. The high school was beautifully decorated for the occasion; the colors used being that of old gold and black. The black cat silhouettes were in conspicuous places—on the window glass where they can be seen yet. Every person, as he entered, was dutybound to sign a pledge that he would do everything required of him during the evening. Games were very appropriate for the evening and as a school function. Ice cream, cake, fudge and apples were served and ghost stories told and the ghost appeared in reality. The occasion was much enjoyed by all. The young people deserve much praise for the effort to make the public school the community center for social pleasures and business for the community at large. Such functions are educational and should be indulged in by a much larger number of our citizens. I take this opportunity to publicly thank all who made such a pleasure possible.

The contest at our County Fair in composition was won by William Lawrence for Bay St. Louis Schools. This promising young man was almost drafted into this service. He is a little bashful but has many other pleasing qualities.

There will come a time when money will not be so plentiful. Our report cards at Central building were held back for the reason that in the first month we were busy organizing the school then we spent about ten days preparing for the fair. So we put no report card out the first month.

Many friends of education will be interested to know the kind of work that has been done in Bay St. Louis schools. The State High School Inspector visited our school Tuesday and left recommendations with our Board that must be complied with before our school can be affiliated with standard colleges. We have no apparatus to do much; we have very poor reference books; a very small library and no permanent records and several other suggestions were offered.

S. S. C's Foot Ball team defeated Baytown Academy's aggregation of Mobile last Saturday in a hotly contested game. The feature of the game was the star passing of Milton Phillips to Escalona. The latter scored both touchdowns for our eleven, crossing the visitors' goal line in the first and fourth periods.

Glover, Escalona, Jaubert and Phillips starred for the Red and Blacks, while Colson's yards at quarter was the best for the visitors. He made the three first downs for Barton and showed much skill in punting.

Referee, Kersey; Umpire, C. C. Timmer, D. R. Peter.

Our fast eleven which continues to improve with every game, will be given the opportunity to prove their mettle today when they play "Bill" Brennan's Tulane Yarnigans in New Orleans.

We beat the Gulfport Sailors, 12-0, while the best that the Olive and Blue's could do was to hold them to a 6-6 tie a week previous to our battle. From comparison of scores, there is little to choose between the two teams.

Coach Brennan will use his strongest lineup. At full back, "Red" Ray, former captain of Ole Miss, who is ineligible to play on the varsity, is more than taking care of his position. Frank McLaughlin, will probably start calling signals.

On the line will be Montelau and Garciat, ends; Gilbert and Amoss, tackles; White and Hawthorne, guards, while Arrington will take care of the central position.

But with all these great players on a team is confident of victory and has worked hard every day for this battle.

A Halloween party was given in the college gymnasium last Saturday night by the Seniors. The various tricks and games afforded much amusement for all, but especially for the smaller boys.

An inter-class track meet was held last Monday, November 1st in which the Sophomores triumphed with 48 points. The Eighth Grade won second with 41, and Freshmen third with 22, and the Juniors and Seventh Grade tied for fourth with six each. No Seniors participated.

Aacworth, Ga.—"We have used Black-Draught in our family for years, and can say I never have found a liver medicine that could equal it," writes Mrs. J. A. Millwood, of this place. "It is fine for indigestion, headache and sour stomach," she continues.

"I use it for the family, and certainly feel it has saved me a lot of money."

"I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and am sure if others would use it they would be as glad as I've been."

Watch Your Kidneys!

That "bad back" is probably due to weak kidneys. It shows in a dull, throbbing backache, or sharp twinges when stooping. You have headaches, too, dizzy spells, a tired nervous feeling and irregular kidney action. Don't neglect it—there is danger of dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. ### FOOD VALUE OF CORN SILAGE

Crop Is More Easily Harvested and Put Into Silo Than Rye, Cowpeas or Alfalfa.

Almost any green crop can be made into silage successfully. Much care, however, must be taken to expel the air from such hollow-stemmed plants as the small cereal grains by cutting fine and packing firmly. Other crops, of which legumes are examples, are deficient in the fermentable constituents needed for palatable silage. On the other hand, a few crops, such as the saccharine sorghums, have so much sugar that unless cut at a more mature stage they have a tendency to produce sour silage.

In most parts of the United States more food material can be obtained from an acre of corn as silage than from an acre of any other crop that can be grown. Corn is more easily harvested and put into the silo than crops like rye, clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa, and when cut for silage the maximum quantity of nutrients is preserved. Experiments have shown that corn, when silaged, lost 15.6 per cent of the dry matter; against 23.8 per cent when cut for fodder and cured in the field. Moreover, there is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder, since good silage properly packed in the silo is not so liable to spoil as fodder. When corn is cut for silage, the land is cleared and ready for another crop sooner than when the corn is shocked or stacked from the standing stalk. Corn can be put into the silo at a cost of less than that of shocking, husking, grading and shredding.

Farmers' Bulletin 573, on Harvesting and Feeding of Silage, may be had by addressing the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SCRUB SIRE NOT ECONOMICAL

Common and Inferior Cattle Sires Bring As Much Money on Market as Better Grades.

The only reason that the average person can give for using a scrub sire in any line of live stock breeding is that they think they are making money by using a cheap animal. They do not figure into the future and see that it is the offspring of this animal which will either make or lose them money. The corn breeder does not think of selling the nubbin with which to plant his corn field. Neither can the live stock man afford to select a sire which will not produce a better and more uniform class of stuff. A glance into the live stock market will convince one that the purebred sire with the proper individual merit will be a paying investment. When common and inferior sires are selling for nine cents, a better grade of steers in the same kind of flesh are usually selling for from 10 to 11 cents. In addition to this, the better cattle usually will put on gains more economically.

CHANGE PASTURE FOR SHEEP

For Best Results It Is Imperative That Animals Have Grass Not Too Closely Bitten.

For best results it is imperative that sheep have frequent changes of pasture, that a "fresh bite" be had, that grass may not be too closely bitten, that worms therefrom will be less likely to infect them and that they may have a sure supply of mineral matter as well as organic matter in their food. Lambs, especially, must have new seeding each spring. On the sheep-raised and contaminated pastures they infect themselves with worms. On new grass they escape worms and besides that, find such grass more palatable and easily digested.

RISE IN PRICES FOR HORSES

Indication of Growing Needs for Farming and Transportation—Outlook Is Good.

The rise in prices for good draft horses and mules in spite of the existence of more than twenty-one million horses and almost five million mules on farms indicates how burning and transportation needs are becoming. Good draft horses and mules are scarce and their prices are rising.

AUTUMN BRINGS HANDSOME SUITS

EARLY fall has come along, bringing with it suits so altogether satisfying to women of good taste that they are more than thankful for them. There is real joy in their many excellences—all up to the level of the most discriminating and sophisticated of demands. The colors, lines, cloths, trimmings and the marvelous tailoring combine to place them a little ahead of anything else in our regard. We may expect to see our streets filled with women so well outfitted that it is a pleasure to look at them.

All those velvety, luxurious looking materials that are soft and pliable and that seem to show colors at their best, are at hand for designers and seem to have inspired them. Lines are conservative and pleasing, and there is sufficient variety in styles. Fur would expect to find in the autumn a lot of fabrics that resemble each other and they are used with discretion on the new suits.

Millinery in Miniature

MILLINERY for small girls includes many pressed shapes of beaver or felt and some "made" hats—that is hats of fabrics placed over frames and usually made by hand. The shapes are simple and childish and among the millinery-made hats there are small replicas of a few of the shapes worn by grown-ups with finishing touches that make them amusing miniatures of the head-dresses which they are patterned after. But the group of hats for small girls shown here is a little different from either of these classes—it contains made hats that are characteristically childish in shape and finishing.

Duvelin and velvet play as important a part in children's hats as in any other. At the top of this group a round shape with upturned brim is covered with velvet and the brim decorated with two rows of fancy silk braid. It has for trimming a silk tassel that dangles from a cord fastened to the top of the crown, but other wise left free to dangle about as it will. The top crown is left, the side crown is at the left, finished with a bias band of velvet. Heavy wool yarn is buttoned to the brim-edge and two small wool pompoms nestle together at the front of the crown, posed against a band of ribbon that is finished with a flat bow at the back.

At the right of the picture a little velvet hat boudges in an abbreviated tuxedo crown and contents itself with a silk cord for trimming on the upward rolling brim. The hat at the bottom is as simply trimmed with band and bow of ribbon, but it has a facing of stitched silk and its top crown is pleated. These little models are of all velvet, but they might be of duvelin or silk.

Julia Bottomly
Pale Pastel Taffetas. The pale pastel taffetas, sometimes changeable, will challenge any girl to dare try making them up without lace. One of the most fascinating models made of just such materials was in shot green taffeta, with tiny under-skirt of lace and small sleeves of the same. There were two tunic. The one, long and somewhat narrow, was cut shorter than the lace all around, but on one side especially curved up in one place to show the face. It was bound, like the upper draped and panned tunic, with sky blue tulle and had a bowknot finishing the highest point. At the grille a little bouquet of mauve buds gave that knowing touch which all high-class dress-makers know how to give.

Scarlet and Crimson. In preparation for the anticipated carnive revival in dress, much scarlet and crimson is being used on shoes.

Organdies of High Degree. Organdies which at the beginning of the season were considered with averted eyes, are now being worn and admired. They are larger than the usual organdie and are trimmed with a wide band of lace. They are being worn with a wide band of lace. They are being worn with a wide band of lace.

DODSON STOPS SALE OF CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking Place of Dangerous, Sickening Chemical, Say Druggists

A large bottle doesn't cost very much but it falls to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation. Just ask for your money back.

Rubber Made From Wood. Rubber from the coccolite, or candlewood, of Arizona is stated to resemble ordinary rubber in all respects and to vulcanize satisfactorily. The coccolite is very abundant in the wild state. A ton of the raw material yields about 200 pounds of the gum and 90 pounds of a tarry substance, and in the experimental factory recently established a ton of crude gum is reported to be produced daily. The tarry by-product is of value for certain uses.

HARD TO LIVE UP TO THESE MADE THE BREAK COMPLETE

Speakers Would Do Well Indeed if They Matched the Work Credited to the Painters.

John Brookbank, commander-in-chief of the 330 Richmond business men who are collecting money for the $500-000 endowment of Earlham college, was speaking to the men at the daily noon luncheon held in the basement of the Grace M. E. church. He was congratulating them on their good work and exhorting them to greater efforts in the future. He said:

"To gain success in this enterprise, as in any, we must make it real and lifeline. We must make it something that people can see is worth while and vital and living. Why, we must do as good as the painter who drew a picture of a cat so lifelike that ten minutes after he hung it on the wall there were fleas on it."

President Edwards arose and said:
"Or we must do as well as the other painter who drew a picture of a hen.
This painter drew the drawing of the hen in the waste basket, but it was so lifelike that it just lay there."—

Her Former Fiance.

"I am glad I broke my engagement with Tom," Mabel observed indignantly.
"He's no real gentleman."

"Why, I have always thought him one," Tess commented in surprise.
"What has he done?"

"Well, I sent him back his presents—that is, all except the diamond ring and a few other things. That I thought I was really entitled to, considering how many times he had taken dinner at our house and all, and asked him to return mine."

"Well, did he refuse?"

"He did not. He not only sent back a box of cigars, unopened, and a pen-wiper and a knit necktie, but he sent also five boxes of face powder, saying that he estimated that to be about the quantity he had taken away on his coat during the time we were engaged."

BEST COLLIE DOG.

"Bow-wow, wow, wow, bow-wow, wow, bow-wow," said Blue Blood.
He was so named because he was such a fine dog and because they said he had blue blood, meaning very fine and aristocratic blood.

He had lived on this side of the ocean always and so had his parents and so had his grandparents so he was very proud when he took the prize at the Collie Club show.

In fact he took the first prize of all over all the Mrs. Collies and the Mr.
Collies.

"Now I've done it," he said.
"Well, you're beating me for the first time," said Allie Collie. She was a very beautiful collie dog and had won many prizes before in dog shows.

"It is the first time I have been beaten," she said.

"Too bad, I hope I didn't hurt your feelings," said Blue Blood. "Of course it would be absurd for me to say I am not glad I won. Still I hope you didn't feel very badly about it. You have won a good many times and have had all that fun. So it is almost my turn, don't you think so, bow-wow?"

"Well," said Allie, "a dog who has won so many times as I have hates to be beaten by another dog, but I'm a good sport and so I won't mind taking second place. Besides it is really my turn to you. You have been growing so handsome and when at last you were exhibited in a dog show you should get the first prize."

"How old are you, may I ask?"

"You may ask, and I will tell you," said Blue Blood. "I don't mind tel-ing my age. I'm eighteen months old, but this isn't really the first time I've won a prize. I've won them several times before, in fact each time I have been shown; but this is the first dog show of any size I've been in.

"Besides, this is such a superior dog show it makes a dog proud to be shown off here."

"Do you like my dark coat with its white markings?" asked Blue Blood.
"Do you think I wore the right kind of a suit to the show?"

"Quite the right kind," said Allie.
"and don't you think I wore a smart lady's coat?"

"Of course," said Blue Blood. "But do you know I will tell you a secret."

"What?" asked Allie.

"I think we are absurd to talk like that. Each of us knows that Blue Blood, that we're dressed as we should be dressed in the coats we were given and shall have, only it is up to us to keep them looking spic and span and fine."

"But I think we are getting to be very silly, vain dogs to talk about nothing but our own families and our handsome coats."

"To be sure we have both, but we shouldn't be doing all the talking about it ourselves. It would be much more to the point if other creatures just felt we were thoroughbreds and knew we were thoroughbreds without our having to act so as snobs."

"Sometimes," continued Blue Blood,
"one feels that people who are snobbish and dogs who put on airs aren't half as sensible and don't get half the fun out of life as those who try to play well and work well and who don't waste time over nonsense."

"For whether we are of a fine family or whether we are of a little family, the main thing is for us to be thoroughly nice dogs, isn't it?"

"The first sensible conversation I've had at a dog show in many a day," said Allie.

"Yes," she added after a moment.
"I'm glad you won the prize, for you're a fine dog with a fine family back of you, but more than that, you've got the good sense to know that you have to be nice and do your part well so as not to disgrace the family name.
Then, too, you don't want to feel that all your good points are from your family. You want to make some of them yourself."

"I do, bow-wow, I do," said Blue Blood.

Experience Tells.

Sunday school had just begun when the teacher turned to nine-year-old Edward and asked him why he had been absent from Sunday school last Sunday. His answer came promptly and clearly, "Pop and me went black-berrying last Sunday."

Teacher was nonplussed. "Why, Edward," she exclaimed, "don't you have any idea what will happen to little boys who pick blackberries on Sundays?"

"Yes, ma'am," his answer was again prompt. "They'll get chickens on them."—Indianapolis News.

THE CASE OF SUCH SYMPTOMS AND REMEDY TOLD IN THIS LETTER.

Syracuse, N. Y.—"When I commenced the Change of Life I was poorly, had no appetite and had fainting spells.
I suffered for two or three years before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Liver Pills which I saw advertised in the papers and in your little book. I took about twelve bottles
of your Vegetable Compound and found it a wonderful remedy. I commenced to pick up at once and my suffering was relieved. I have told others about your medicine and know of some who have taken it.
I am glad to help others all I can."

Mrs. R. E. DEXING, 437 W. Lafayette Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Moreover this reliable remedy contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and owes its efficiency to the medicinal extracts of the native roots and herbs which it contains.

Locating the Heart.

"Home is where the heart is," remarked the man of sentiments. "Yes," commented Mr. Biddoo, "but I wish my landlord wouldn't keep my heart in my mouth."

ous trouble—dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease. Don't delay. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped thousands and should help you.
Ask your neighbor!

An Alabama Case.

Mrs. J. N. Sibley, Shusselville, Ala.,
troubled me,
and the pain in my
back put me going. There was a steady dull ache
across my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. I also had dizzy spells,
dreadful sickening
headaches, and they acted me up in good shape.
I haven't been

KEEPING MILK MILK COOL

Product Made for Special Rooms With out Proper Refrigeration Shows Just Bacteria Count.

Generally, the larger numbers of bacteria found in milk which is reaches the consumer are due more to the multiplication of the bacteria than to the original contamination. This great multiplication occurs because the milk is not properly cooled during storage, transportation and delivery.
Just now this fact is of particular importance to the person having milk to sell.

Commercial experience confirms the results of experimental work. Milk which has been held for several hours without proper refrigeration nearly always shows higher counts than fresh milk from the same source. At a certain creamery, milk received in the morning consisted of the previous night's milk and fresh morning's milk which were kept separate. During six summer months, from April to September, inclusive, 478 samples of the morning's milk showed an average bacterial count of 800,026, while 355 samples of milk which had been held overnight on the farms had an average bacterial count of 2,400,357 bacteria per cubic centimeter.

DRUGS DETRIMENTAL TO COW

Experiments at Iowa State College
Show That Alcohol, Ales, Etc., Are Harmful.

The use of drugs with the idea of increasing the fat production of test cows has been tried out by Iowa State Agricultural college dairy section. In most cases it was found that drugs decreased rather than increased the fat production.

Such drugs as alcohol, castor oil, pituitrin, aloes, magnesium sulphate, nux vomica and sodium chloride were tried and in all cases they were detrimental to the cows. All cows used were in good normal condition at the start of the tests and various sizes of doses were used.

In some cases it was found that the flow of milk and buttermilk was increased slightly, but this soon fell off and in the end, a decrease was noticed.

Up to date no drug has been found that will increase the buttermilk.
Dairymen are strongly advised not to resort to this method as it injures the cows and is not a fair way to gain a record.

BEST TEMPERATURE OF MILK

Only Way to Insure Accuracy in Feeding Calves Is Thorough Use of Thermometer.

Milk as it comes from the cow possesses a temperature near 100 degrees Fahrenheit. When feeding young calves it is not to be very particular in regard to this matter. The only way to insure accuracy in determining temperature is through the use of a thermometer. As calves grow older, eight to ten weeks of age, the temperature may be reduced to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. However, it is always desirable to warm the liquid ration slightly, even for calves six months of age.

FEED COW QUITE LIBERALLY

Silage, Mangles, Rutabagas and Other Root Crops—Should Have Abundance of Feed.

The cow should be fed liberally on succulent foods, as silage, mangles, rutabagas or other root crops. They induce the cow to consume large amounts of feed, which is desirable. Then, too, feeds of this kind are very palatable and easily digested.
